Alumni Feature: Francesca

Francesca participated in Students Run LA in middle school and will soon be a first-generation college graduate. She is currently applying to medical school and credits the SRLA program with creating a space that allowed her to believe in herself.

In her blog, she says, "I learned that life is hard and we are going to having so many different circumstances that will not define us but will challenge us so it is up to us if we are going to allow it to determine our future and give up or if we are going to face the challenge and overcome it for greatness."
